Dear Mayor Hannon:

The occasion of the Centennial Anniversary of the Borough of Avoca should serve as a source of pride and cause for celebration by the citizens of this fine community.

The role which Avoca residents have played in the progress of our region in past decades, and the dedication of its people to their church, their country and their fellow men, are attributes of which you and all Avocans can be justly proud.

Over a century ago, the great poet Thomas Moore gave the name of your community prominence in Irish literature when he wrote of "... the meeting of the waters ...". Let us resolve in 1971 that the poetical waters of which he wrote might serve as the source of a new spring from which we can take inspiration and ideals for the century to come.

Over the years, I have always welcomed the support and friendship of Avoca residents. Again, Thomas Moore perhaps described best my feelings, when he wrote in "Sweet Vale of Avoca": "... in thy bosom of shade, with the friends I love best. ..."

Congratulations and best wishes to everyone.

Sincerely,

DANIEL J. FLOOD, M.C.

The Honorable Joseph D. Hannon,

Dear Mr. Chairman,

Your Congressman, The Honorable Daniel J. Flood, has told me about the centennial celebrations which you are organising in the borough of Avoca, and I wish to convey my heartiest congratulations to the borough on reaching its 100th birthday and the hope that it will continue to flourish in the future.

I am very acquainted with the village of Avoca, County Wicklow, Ireland, and I have some friends there. In my childhood days my parents brought me to Avoca nearly every year for our summer vacation and I have happy memories of those times. Avoca is situated in a district renowned for its scenic beauty and the poet, Thomas Moore, composed the song "Sweet Vale of Avoca" in its honour. This song is sometimes known as "The Meeting of the Waters", because the Owenmore and the Owenbeg unite there to form the single river Avoca which flows into the Irish Sea at Arklow.

I wish the borough and its inhabitants every blessing now and always.

With kind regards,

Yours sincerely,

Dear Mayor Hannon:

Allow me to extend to you my warm greetings and hearty congratulations on Avoca's 100th Anniversary. I sincerely hope that the next one hundred years may be rich and happy ones for your community as well.

One hundred years span a great length of time in the history of every nation. This is especially true of one as young as ours. In these modern times, we must never abandon this history which can serve us all as a reminder of the great deeds of the past and as inspiration for the future.

Avoca has an interesting history itself. Located in the junction of the Lackawanna and Wyoming Valleys, did you know this charming town was originally named Pleasant Valley? And although the name has been changed, the aura remains.

Again let me congratulate the Avoca Centennial Association and all of the citizens of Avoca on this great anniversary occasion. I am sorry that I will not be present for the celebration, but I assure you that you all have my best wishes for a happy anniversary and many years of growth and progress.

Dear Mayor Hannon:

It is a pleasure to join with your citizens in observing the one hundredth anniversary of the incorporation of Avoca. This is an important occasion and a time which should prompt reflection on what has been achieved thus far and what your goals for the future should be.

Small communities throughout America are confronted with tremendous challenge at this time--the challenge of offering the quality of life to its citizens which will encourage them to stay in the less populated areas of our country rather than migrating to already overcrowded cities.

I am chairing the Subcommittee on Rural Development which has this problem as its prime concern. The ideas and recommendations of your citizens would be helpful to us.

I hope your anniversary observance will be a success and that you give my greetings and congratulations to all.

With my best wishes.

An Overview Of Avoca Borough's FIRST HUNDRED YEARS

By

JOHN A. DONOVAN

It was on May 24, 1871, that Avoca Borough—then known as Pleasant Valley—was officially incorporated. Originally part of large and sprawling Pittston Township, the new borough was governed by a three-man borough council. P. B. Brehony served as Pleasant Valley's first council president; Robert Reed and George Lampman were the other two councilmen.

Strategically situated — approximately three miles from Pittston and approximately seven miles from Scranton—in the northern part of Luzerne County adjacent to the Lackawanna County Line, Pleasant Valley was (virtually from its beginning) a prosperous and thriving little community. In the early 1870's, for example, Pleasant Valley already contained within its borders: four railroads, four churches, a board of trade, and a fire company. An early manufacturer in the community was Albert McAlpine, who manufactured half-bushel and peck measures in his West Avoca plant. Martin Reap, who built a grocery store in 1871, is considered to be the borough's first merchant. In the 1870's the Pittston merchants Law and McMillan are also credited with establishing and operating a branch store at Marr—the northern section of Avoca borough near the Duryea line. The hub, of course, of the borough's economy in the early 1870's was the then rapidly developing Anthracite Coal Industry, which served as the prime source of employment for most Pleasant Valley families.

Prior to 1871, postal service for residents of Pleasant Valley was provided by the Pittston Post Office. However, in April of 1871, a Pleasant Valley Postal Branch was established. Joseph McMillan was appointed postmaster, and Andrew L. Flock was named mail carrier. The Pleasant Valley branch of the Pittston Post Office originally was called the Marr Post Office in deference to Joseph H. Marr, who at that time was chief clerk in the office of the United States Postmaster General.

In fact, the Pleasant Valley branch continued to be known as the Marr Post Office until 1889, when a number of residents of Pleasant Valley—who wished to have the postal facility more centrally located—petitioned the United States postal authorities to have the location of the post office changed. However, because there was already a borough in Pennsylvania called Pleasant Valley, their request was rejected. Undaunted by the rejection the determined petitioners then turned to the Luzerne County Court and requested that the borough's name be changed from Pleasant Valley to Avoca. The court of Quarter Sessions complied with the request, and Pleasant Valley became Avoca. Unfortunately, however, through the years a persistent but erroneous impression has been perpetuated that the name Avoca was selected in reference to the infamous Mud Run Disaster—the Lehigh Valley Railroad train wreck of October 10, 1888, which claimed the lives of thirty-seven residents. Actually, this story can be easily discounted by the fact that the charter granted to the hose company in September, 1887, thirteen months before the Mud Run Disaster stated that: "This organization will be known as the Avoca Hose Company of Pleasant Valley."

In the late nineteenth century, among the outstanding events and institutions which played prominent parts in the growth of Pleasant Valley were the erection of three school buildings, the chartering of the Avoca Hose Company No. 1, and the construction of four churches: the Langeliffe Presbyterian (1870), Saint Mary's Roman Catholic (1874), Saint John's Primitive Methodist (1877), and the Bethel Methodist (1878).

In 1869, two years before Pleasant Valley was officially chartered, the community's first school building—the Number One School—was constructed on Main Street; four years later, to accommodate children from West Avoca, a second school building—the Number Two School—was built on Packer Street. Shortly after that a third school building—the Number Three School—was erected on Plane Street.

Perhaps the most civic endeavor undertaken by the citizens of Pleasant Valley during the late nineteenth century was the organization of Avoca Hose Company No. 1. It was not until 1886 when a representative number of Pleasant Valley citizens became sufficiently alarmed about the borough's lack of adequate fire-fighting resources that serious efforts were made to organize a fire-fighting company. Consequently, at a meeting held in J. H. Anderson's store, in June, 1886, the Avoca Hose Company No. 1 was organized, and the following officers were elected: G. M. Snyder, president;

J. H. Anderson, secretary; W. H. Hollister, treasurer; F. F. Dommermuth, foreman.

The foresight displayed by those responsible for organizing the Hose Company was evident almost immediately. For during the first decade of its existence, Avoca Hose Company No. 1 rendered many valuable and rewarding services to the people of the borough: tens of thousands of dollars worth of property were protected, lives were saved, and insurance rates were reduced. However, the new hose company was not without problems. The most serious, perhaps, was finances. In its early years, the Avoca Hose Company No. 1 was funded primarily by a series of hose company conducted fairs: "The International Bazaar", held May 24-27, 1887, raised one thousand two hundred dollars. The following year a hose company sponsored carnival realized a profit of three hundred and ninety-one dollars. "The Fair of the Season", conducted October 21-23 showed a profit of nine hundred and twenty-five dollars.

The religious needs of the early residents of Pleasant Valley were not neglected either. For between the years 1870 and 1878 no fewer than four churches were erected in the borough. The first of these was the Langeliffe Presbyterian Church, which was built on Main Street in 1870. The ground on which the church was constructed was donated to the parish by two members of its congregation—Mr. John Dawson and Mr. Robert Brown. The church was named Langeliffe in honor of and at the request of Mr. Dawson. Langeliffe was the name of the Dawson estate in England. In 1871 the Reverend A. S. Stewart was invested as the church's first pastor. The Langeliffe Congregation conducted services at the Langeliffe Church from 1871 to 1898, when on Easter Sunday morning, 1898, a disastrous fire completely destroyed the church. Forced to improvise by the loss of their church, the Langeliffe Congregation accepted the offer of the Avoca Hood and Awning Company officials to conduct church services at the Avoca Hood and Awning Company factory. Subsequently, church services were conducted regularly at the Hood and Awning facility from 1898 to April 3, 1910, when the present church was dedicated.

Prior to the incorporation of Pleasant Valley in 1871, the religious needs of Irish Catholic families in the borough were met by the priest assigned to Saint John's Parish in Pittston. However, as the number of catholic families in the community increased, the need for establishing a parish in Pleasant Valley became increasingly evident. Consequently, on July 13, 1871, Saint Mary's Parish was founded. Shortly afterwards, plans were made to build a church. Allegedly, at the outset, progress on the new church was slow; nevertheless, construction was finally completed in the early part of July, 1874. On July 26, 1874, the Most Reverend William

ST. MARY'S PAROCHIAL SCHOOL

O'Hara, Bishop of the Scranton Diocese, officially dedicated the new church. The Reverend Michael F. Crane was appointed Saint Mary's first pastor.

Saint John's Primitive Methodist Church was dedicated in 1877. A small group of Pleasant Valley Christians, who had been holding meetings intermittently in each others homes, decided in 1871 to organize and to call themselves Primitive Methodists. They purchased a lot on Church Street in West Avoca, from Mr. Lacoe of Pittston, president of the Lacoe Coal Company. Originally, the church group intended to build a church on the lot. However, before the money was raised for the erection of the church, it became most obvious that in the near future, the center of community life would be located on the East side of the borough. Consequently, a committee of parishioners approached Mr. Lacoe and requested that the deed be transferred to a lot in that section. Mr. Lacoe condescended to the request, and the ground on which the present church and Manse now stands was deeded to the newly formed Primitive Methodist Church of Pleasant Valley. The church was not built, however, until December 1877, when it was formally dedicated and named Saint John's Primitive Methodist Church of Pleasant Valley. The Reverend Henry G. Russell was appointed the church's first pastor.

The fourth church to be built in Pleasant Valley during the 1870's was the Bethel Methodist Church. The first Bethel Methodist Church was built on Main Street in 1878. However, in April, 1880, a new Charge, which merged the Pleasant Valley and Hughestown Congregations, was formed; and the Reverend Charles H. Sochett was appointed pastor. Unfortunately, the Pleasant Valley-Hughestown merger was short-lived; for it was dissolved two years later—in 1882. Apparently, from 1880 to 1889, membership in the church increased rapidly because church records reveal that in the summer of 1889, plans were formulated to build a larger church. The local contracting firm of Sales and Dunsmuth were awarded the building contract. Less than a year later—May 18, 1890—the new church was formally dedicated.

As the nineteenth century drew to a close, Avoca Borough was already a thriving and bristling community. The official United States Census of 1900 revealed that 3,487 people were already residing in the borough; furthermore, there was every indication that the borough would continue to grow and to prosper. The need for a bank was already very evident as Avoca Borough moved into the twentieth century. Consequently, it was on December 26, 1905, that a small group of prominent Avoca citizens met at J. H. Anderson's grocery store on Main Street to discuss the possibility of organizing a town bank. When the meeting adjourned, agreement was reached upon the following: A bank would be organized in the borough; it would be named the First National Bank of Avoca; the bank would have a capital of fifty thousand dollars, accumulated by selling five hundred shares of stock at one hundred dollars a share, and a surplus of ten thousand dollars, accumulated by assessing each share twenty dollars.

From the time of the first meeting in 1905 until the bank officially opened in 1907, most of the subsequent meetings were held at O'Malley's Hall on Main Street. Newspaper reports of a meeting held at O'Malley's Hall on October 6, 1906, indicates that there was not total agreement among the principals: there was some factionalism among those interested in establishing the bank. However, compromise was eventually effected by the dissentients, and eventually a committee was appointed to select bank directors. The following directors were subsequently appointed: Messrs. J. H. Anderson, T.G., Brown, Harry Friend, Max Gross, W.H. Hollister, Edward Laird, John McLaughlin, M. J. Murphy, E. L. Snyder, T. F. Ward, and Dr. H. W. Berge. Later, by acclamation, the new directors elected John F. McLaughlin, president; and W. H. Hollister, Vice-president.

After the election of officers, progress was rapid. Although several sights for the building were considered, the present sight was purchased from E. L. Snyder, and construction of the bank followed shortly afterwards. Less than six months after the various contracts were awarded the First National Bank of Avoca officially opened its doors on Monday morning, April 1, 1907.

It was not until April, 1909, that a Polish Roman Catholic Parish was established in Avoca Borough. Church records reveal that the Reverend L. Ziemianski was appointed pastor of the new Saint Peter and Paul's Parish on April 1, 1909. During the pastorship of Reverend Ziemianski, the church served parishioners from Avoca and from the Houston City section of Pittston Township. It was in 1920, during the pastorship of the Reverend Casimer Krzywicki, that the parish built a rectory on Vine Street. During the early and late 1920's, Saint Peter and Paul's Parish grew steadily, and by 1930 the need for a new church was evident. It was in 1932, during the pastorship of the Reverend S. J. Cituk, that the old edifice on the corner of Vine and Main Streets was dismantled, and the present church was constructed.

Historically, at the conclusion of World War I, the economy of the United States was on the verge of entering an era of unparalleled prosperity. The significant increases in population and in economic prosperity that was literally sweeping the country during the "Roaring Twenties" was, of course, reflected to some degree in Avoca Borough. For the official United States Census of 1920 revealed that 4,950 people were then residing in the borough. It was in the borough schools in particular, in the early 1920's, that the population increase was most saliently discernible. For instance, in order to accommodate the heavy enrollment at the Number Three Building on Plane Street, the school district was forced to initiate half day sessions. Consequently, as the enrollment in the schools continued to increase during the Mid-Twenties the need for a new four-year high school building became almost critical. Cognizant of this, the Avoca School Board in January, 1925, resolved to construct a new high school building. It was not until the April meeting of the Avoca Board of Education that the architectural firm of Austin Rielly was retained to formulate plans for the construction of the new school building. At the Board meeting, July 31, 1925, building contracts were awarded. Shortly afterwards, construction of the new high school building began. In September, 1926, the new high school building was opened; and Mr. Thomas R. Dixon was appointed high school principal.

It was not until the late summer of 1931, that a group of ex-servicemen from the borough met at the Avoca Borough Building to finalize plans to organize an American Legion Post in conjunction with the National American Legion. The motion of Joseph Harding, local mail carrier, that the new Post be named the McPhillips-Widdall Post in honor of Bernard McPhillips and Harry Widdall—Avoca residents who lost their lives in World War I was unanimously carried. At a subsequent meeting held in November, 1931, William Murtha was elected as the Post's first commander.

During the depression-marked 1930's, the McPhillips-Widdall Post was actively engaged in many civic as well as athletic endeavors. For example, the Post's Employment Committee was active trying to find employment for the town's many unemployed residents. Athletically, in the early 30's, the Post's athletic committee sponsored the annual high school track meets. Also, during the early years of the depression, classes in first aid were among the activities sponsored by the McPhillips-Widdall Post.

In November, 1939, that the McPhillips-Widdall Post, 607, Memorial Building — located on the corner of Main and Hawthorne Streets—was officially and appropriately dedicated. "The Legion Building" (a misnomer still commonly used in referring to the facility) became the base for a wide variety of World War II activities that were conducted by the McPhillips-Widdall Post: Shortly after the war broke out, an honor roll containing the names of borough residents serving in the Armed Forces was erected in the front of the building. Early in the war, the Post hosted farewell parties in honor of departing servicemen. Later, however, the farewell parties were discontinued, and departing servicemen were given—as tokens of appreciation in lieu of a party—packages containing such articles as cigarettes, razor blades, etc.

It was in 1941 that the latest of the borough's six churches—the Full Gospel Chapel—was officially dedicated. Although the Full Gospel's Congregation was without a church until 1941, its origin actually parallels the founding of Pleasant Valley—in 1871. At that time, a small group of borough residents of English descent began holding prayer meetings at the home of James Hastie, who resided on Main Street. The prayer meetings were held regularly at the home of Mr. Hastie until his death in 1891. After Mr. Hastie's death, the prayer meetings were conducted by Mr. Hastie's daughter—Mary Hastie. When Mary Hastie died in 1940, Miss Bertha Dommermuth and Miss Ruth Shippey, the present co-pastors of the Full Gospel Chapel, continued with the services.

Another service organization that has, through the years, contributed to the social and civic progress of Avoca Borough is the Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 8335. Organized shortly after World War II by a group of Avoca Veterans, the "VFW's" club rooms were originally located in the Casey Building in West Avoca. Robert B. Kania served as the Post's first commander. "VFW" meetings were held in the Casey Building until 1952, when the post club rooms were moved to the Tighe Building on Grove Street in central Avoca. In 1953, the Post rooms were moved to their present site on Main Street.

Officially chartered on October 2, 1946, the "VFW" has been from its beginning, civic-oriented; it has through the years, lent its support—at one time or other—to virtually every civic project in the borough. In its early years, the "VFW" sponsored Easter egg hunts for children were an annual affair. When the Avoca Little League was organized in 1950, the "VFW" was one of the original sponsors. Through the years, the Post has continued to sponsor a team in the six-team league which has functioned—without interruption—in the borough for the last twenty years.

Perhaps the most significant single event that occurred in Avoca Borough during the late 1940's was the construction of the Wilkes-Barre—Scranton Airport. In retrospect, there is little doubt that both the prestige and the image of the community were immeasurably enhanced by the fact that Avoca Borough was the site selected for the construction of the airport facility. Unfortunately, however, the late 1940's will also be remembered by some people as the "beginning of the end" for the Anthracite Coal Industry. For in the late 1940's, Avoca Borough—along with other communities in Northeastern Pennsylvania—was beginning to feel the pressures of an economic recession that was the direct result of the precipitous decline in the Anthracite Coal market that followed World War II.

In the wake of the declining market, some coal companies were forced to close; others drastically reduced their work forces. Consequently, in the early 1950's, the evidence was becoming unmistakably clear that the Anthracite Coal Industry, which had reached unprecedented production peaks during the war years, was inextricably caught in the tongs of what proved to be an irreversible trend. In light of this, many residents of the borough were forced to leave the community for employment elsewhere. The exodus that prevailed during the 1950's was graphically and significantly reflected in the official United States Census of 1960, which revealed that the population of Avoca Borough was 3,552—the borough's lowest official population figure of the twentieth century.

In the May Primaries of 1962, the residents of Avoca, Duryea, Dupont, Pittston Township, Hughestown, Yatesville and Jenkins Township boroughs overwhelmingly approved a referendum to form a school merger. The new merger, which went into effect in July, 1962, was called the Northeast School District. However, the Northeast School District was destined to be short-lived; for in 1966, by virtue of a mandate issued by the Pennsylvania Department of Public Instruction the Northeast School District was merged with the Pittston City School District. The new merger is called the Pittston Area School District.

It was in December, 1969, that Mayor James J. McLane, who had been Avoca Borough's chief executive for more than twenty years, died. Mayor McLane, who was one of the most respected and popular mayors in the Commonwealth, was succeeded by our present mayor, Joseph D. Hannon.

At the present time, as Avoca Borough begins its second century, its future appears bright. "King Coal", the economy catalyst of 1871, of course, no longer reigns supreme. Today, with many new and diversified industries locating in the area, there is every reason to believe that in the future the people of Avoca Borough will have no reason to leave the community in search of better economic opportunities elsewhere and will, therefore, be better able to use their talents and their skills to help build a better and more prosperous Avoca.

PREDICTIONS OF THINGS TO COME

ABOUT 1900

Christmas is about to ring again, its chimes of music. The stockings are being prepared for a visit from Santa Claus. The turkey is strutting about in Lordly fashion, mustering up his last courage to bravely walk to the guillotine and be once and for all executed.

Avoca is pursuing the even tenor of her way, floating majestically the penant of a glorious future. Like Gaul, Avoca is divided into three parts, two of which the Democrats inhabit (for the Republicans have little say in legislative matters) the other of which is inhabited by an almost equal number of Republicans and Democrats. Of all these, the Second Ward is the most important; for is it not here that all the merchants carry on their business? And live in the hope that the Two Weeks Pay will bring to them the harvest time? Through this section a railway passes, and on it run a number of cars from which the hamlet receives no taxes. This electric byway connects us with the great Electric City on the North, while on the south, it empties load after load of speculators into the Black Diamond city. Three Steam Railways pass through our town, offering to manufacturers and merchants unsurpassed facilities for procuring their goods as well as exporting them.

The Western boundry of our peaceful vale is turbulent Duryea, the impositions of which the North End residents would prefer to enjoy rather than annex themselves to our progressive Borough.

On the Easterly side is a division of Pittston Township, which rests among the seclusion and quiet of the wooded section. Isolated as it is, it offers a suitable place for summer visitors, who fond of the beauties of nature, go roaming through the forests, rounding up at Mr. Tommy Barret's summer home where they rest and enjoy a soothing glass of his delicious cider. Moosic and Dupont are at the immediate Northern and Southern limits, respectively of this great town.

Nestled prettily amid such splendid environments, what is the future of this great town? What will the next few years bring about? In the rear future, we can see Main street covered with asphalt pave—A fine new town hall will adorn the street—Doctors Seaman, Berge and Pier, who minister to the sick and ailing, will discard their horses and rubber tired buggies, and will be seen to locomote in fine automobiles. Our merchants will abandon the credit system—cash only will be accepted for purchases. Every house in town will be lighted with electricity—The mines will become exhausted—Industries will take their places, that will give to Avoca an active, progressive and metropolitan appearance.

The Argus instead of greeting its readers on Saturday, will become a daily paper. The population of Avoca, instead of being 3,500 will be from 10,000 to 15,000, then we shall ask to be incorporated into a city—Then there will be a scramble for the salaried offices.

We shall find our streets patrolled by policemen. The lockup will do a thriving business—especially around pay time.

The telephone will connect all parts of the town—It will be found in every store—in every business place; then will it be easy for us to know what is transpiring in all parts of the town at the same time. The Hose Company will have a fine team, a salaried man will take care of them and be ready to respond at a moments notice. Fire insurance rates will diminish and less property will be destroyed—Lincoln Hill will become the desirable residence section, all the vacant land in the vicinity on No. 3 school will be covered with fine houses; A fine park will be made back of Lincoln Hill, a band stand will be erected, and we shall enjoy sacred concerts every Sunday. Every home in town will be connected with sewer—every home will have a furnace and bath room.

Merchants will visit our homes every morning and take our order for each day's provisions. We will not be obligated to move out of our homes for anything. A large ten room brick building will replace the one now known as No. 1 School. The pupils will not be obliged to walk so far to school. The compulsory Education law will be enforced, and every child will be found in the school room instead of the breaker and mill. The number of saloons in town will diminish. Men will become moderate drinkers, their drinking will be done at home. We will have two large hotels—they will be found necessary.

Avoca will embrace all the territory from Moosic over to what is known as the back road, and as far South as the lower end of Smithville. These prophecies may seem strange, but it will be only a matter of time until every one of them will be fulfilled. Wait until ten years have elapsed, then pick up this edition of the Argus and see how truly these remarks have been verified.

THE MEETING OF THE WATERS

There is not in the wide world a valley so sweet
As that vale in whose bosom the bright waters meet;
Oh! the last rays of feeling and life must depart
Ere the bloom of that valley shall fade from my heart.

Yet it was not that nature had shed o'er the scene
Her purest of crystal and brightest of green;
'T was not her soft magic of streamlet or hill,
Oh! no – it was something more exquisite still.

'T was that friends, the beloved of my bosom, were near,
Who made every dear scene of enchantment more dear,
And who felt how the best charms of nature improve,
When we see them reflected from looks that we love.

Sweet vale of Avoca! how calm could I rest
In thy bosom of shade, with the friends I love best,
Where the storms that we feel in this cold world should cease,
And our hearts, like thy waters, be mingled in peace.

Thomas Moore

LEST WE FORGET

Let us pause in our activities to offer a prayer in memory of the boys from Avoca
who fought and died in all the wars
and conflicts of our time.
Their noble efforts to make the world
a better place in which to live
made it possible for us, the living, to have the freedom to arrange for this centennial observance.

Pray they have not died in vain.
